

Year 4 Learning Note

Friday 10th May 2019

This week... We have all improved our familiarity with the works of Shakespeare, through the fantastic Shakespeare workshop that we participated in on Wednesday. We have also begun to type a 300-word recount of our trip to Lincolnsfield, which we will be submitting to the Potters Bar Community News, in the hope that one of them will be selected for publication in their next edition.

In maths this week, we have been so impressed by the focus of everyone, as we begin to look at formal column multiplication.

Reading

Remember to get your parents to sign your reading records if they hear or see you reading at home and keep asking them about the meaning of any words you don't yet know. We will also get a chance to look up some of these words during our Dictionary Detectives session on Friday. My favourite word this week was:

Unstinting- Generous and gladly given

This week we have been reading:

Tudor Tales: The Prince, the Cook and the Cunning King - Terry Deary

Tudor Tales: The Thief, the Fool and the Big Fat King- Terry Deary

Spellings

Here are the spellings that we have been practising this week, which have the prefix inter- or anti-. Please continue to practise them at home, ready for the spelling test on Monday:

interrupt
intervene international antidote
antibiotic

Times Tables

Please keep practising the tables that you are focusing on, using TT Rockstars or www.learnyourtables.co.uk.

Next week...

We will be continuing to practice formal column multiplication in maths, whilst in English, we will complete our recounts and then submit them to the editor of Potters Bar Community News. We will also be learning about the Buddhist religion, prior to Vesak (Buddha Day) on Sunday 19th May. Finally, I have asked everyone to learn a famous line from Shakespeare, so that each of us can quote it next Friday.

Have a wonderful weekend.

Mrs Barker, Mrs Brown and Mrs Trounce
